PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

2901 Silverleaf Dr.
Austin, TX. 78757
512/452-2675

Fellow members — This month I am truly pleased to report to the membership that the TNA Memorial Library has, at long last, been moved from Fort Worth to the custody of Dick Dollen, our District III Governor, in Abilene. For several months Dick and I have been agonizing over moving the library and everything has finally come together. The entire organization is indebted to Dick. Dick plans to see that some shelves are constructed for storing the books, etc. I have sent to Dick a copy, which was put together by Miriam and Wally Gilmore about 1976, I think, of the list of volumes in the library. Though the list is old it will, at least, be something from which Dick and his wife can work to develop a current listing. When that is accomplished we can then publish, in several issues of the TNA NEWS, the volumes and slide sets which are available. When that is done, I hope that many of you will utilize the library. The only cost will be postage to and from the member.

Your secretary, Eleanor, has told me that TNA now has 50 active, paid-up, chapter members; in another word, clubs. I note in the August 1987 issue of TNA NEWS that of those 50 clubs only 18 clubs had sent to the Editor any news regarding their recent activities, meetings, programs, etc. A VERY POOR PERCENTAGE. JUST 36%. There was nothing from Districts II, III, IV, X, and XII. Surely there is some numismatic activity in those districts. Send those reports to your Editor — I know she will see that they are published. If you want others to know what you are doing, you must send those reports to the Editor.

— See ya' next month.

CROATIAN NOTES

A current price list for Croatian, Slovenian and other Balkan area banknotes is available from the Croatian Numismatic Society, 254 Crestwood Dr., Hobart, Ind. 46342.

This list is free to all interested collectors when accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope from the United States. Canadian and overseas collectors should send an international reply coupon to cover the cost of postage.

COIN COLLECTING CAN BE FUN

Chris Johns
Houston, Texas
(DoubleShift)

Coin collecting is one of the most satisfying hobbies in the whole world and Texas! Consider these:

— A husband who is interested in adding to the family exchequer. Buying and selling coins adds to the family income, adds to his knowledge, adds to his circle of friends, adds endless advantages.

— A wife who is into "Women's Lib." There is a tremendous number of coins from over the world with portraits of women on them. Queen Elizabeth, Maria Theresa of Austria, Goya's notorious Naked Maja, the mother-in-law of an ancient Chinese emperor, and on and on.

— The boy child who is into sports. Coins from over the world depict the Olympic games; some of the most beautiful are from the summer games in Canada, 1973 through 1976. Dollar-size coins show sports, such as lacrosse and rowing.

— The family friend who sells new or used cars, works in the service department of a car dealership or even has his own garage. Did you know that in 1921 China minted a coin depicting an automobile? 'struth! The "Auto" dollar (isn't that an original name?) was minted in China's Kweichow province and has an old touring car as its main device.

— A friend who is a nun or priest? Did you know the Vatican issues its own coins? Yes, the Vatican City coins portray such religious scenes as saints, Keys of the Kingdom, the Holy Father and many more.

— Want to do something nice for an ophthalmologist? Consider the myriad of coins portraying individuals wearing glasses. The Austrian 1970 50 Schilling commemorates the centennial of the birth of Dr. Karl Renner and shows the old gentleman with his eyeglasses. Thailand in 1973, issued a commemorative for the World Health Organization which shows King Bhumpiphol Aduly-adet with his glasses on a 1-Baht coin.

— Is grandma playing nursing home to all the stray dogs, cats and birds in the neighborhood? Consider all the coins picturing birds and animals. One of the most popular is the "barnyard" set of Ireland. The farthing pictures a bird, the half-penny has a pig and piglets, the penny has a hen with her chicks, the 3-pence a rabbit, the 6-pence a greyhound, the shilling a bull, the florin a fish and the half crown shows a horse. The Isle of Man, an island in the Irish Sea, issued a crown in 1970 portraying the Manx cat. Beautiful!

— Is Uncle Pete a seaman? Consider the 50 new pence of the Isle of Man, 1971, picturing a ship; the coins of Kuwait issued in 1961 with a dhow, the island-hopping ship of that Persian Gulf country; or even the 1970 $1 from New Zealand, commemorating the bicentennial of Captain James Cook's voyages of discovery and picturing his ship, the Resolution.

EASTERN CARIBBEAN ISSUES 6-COIN SET

The British Royal Mint has been authorized to issue a limited number of frosted proof base metal collections by the Eastern Caribbean Central Bank. Containing six coins, the collection represents the circulating coinage of the Eastern Caribbean States, a federation established in 1979, consisting of the twin island states of Antigua and Barbuda, St. Christopher (St. Kitts) and Nevis, St. Lucia, Dominica, Grenada, Montserrat, and St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

Lying in the southern segment of the Caribbean archipelago, these islands, each different and special in its own way, share the common heritage of British colonization and a wealth of history. It was during the 17th and 18th centuries that Britain and France, and to a lesser extent Spain and Holland, struggled for supremacy in what was considered a vital area of new wealth. Sugar and spices and an ample supply of cheap labor were extremely desirable commodities, and the strategic importance of the Caribbean in a developing world, set the scene for many years of fierce action.

Indeed, the island of St. Lucia changed hands no less than 14 times until the English finally wrested it from the French in 1803. Britain's naval hero, Horatio Nelson, was stationed in Antigua as a captain, following the Treaty of Versailles, and married Frances Nesbitt on Nevis in 1787.

The island of St. Kitts boasts one of the most magnificent forts in the New World, "Brimstone Hill." Set high on a commanding hill, it became known during the 18th century as the Gibraltar of the West Indies.

It was in 1782 that one of the most significant sea battles between England and France was fought in the Eastern Caribbean. England had recently lost her colonies in America and was desperate that the French didn't capitalize on that fact. In two days of ferocious fighting, often referred to as the "Battle of the Saintes," Admiral George Rodney's fleet inflicted a crushing defeat on the French, under the command of Admiral Comte de Grasse. The victory made a major contribution to Britain's final dominance in the region for a period of almost two centuries, until the process of independence which took place from the 1960's onward.

While many Caribbean Islands were discovered by Columbus during the last decade of the 15th century, it was the voyage of circumnavigation undertaken by Sir Francis Drake in 1577-1580, that opened up the way for the first English settlers in the West Indies and the later British colonization of so many islands in the region. The influence of Drake is reflected in the design choice for the ECCB Collection. Two designs are featured on the reverses of the six coins: the $1, (aluminum-bronze) and the 25¢ and 10¢ coins (cupro-nickel) share the common reverse design of the "Golden Hind," the famous ship in which Sir Francis Drake made his voyage around the world. The reverse design of the 5¢, 2¢ and 1¢ coins (aluminum;) features two crossed palm leaves encir-

The currency of North America has included in its history, the monetary system of Russia. Catherine the Great, the czarist of Moscow, had her explorers capture Alaska and the Pacific Coast down to the San Francisco Bay in 1725-1730. Across from the Spanish town was established the fur trading post of Fort Rose run by the Russians.

The Alaskan Peninsula was bought by the United States in 1867 but Russia claimed territorial rights until Alaska became a state in 1959. Russian history is divided into three periods of time, Attila the Hun, Genghis Khan and Stalin.

Catherine the Great was the first female empress of Russia and her image appeared on the coins minted. Since she was the leader of the Russian Orthodox Church and a so-called descendant of Julius Caesar, she was dictator for life of the world. In religious belief of the czars being Caesar, the Soviet Union gets its belief in its right to world conquest. The pretender to the throne exists today in the minting of coins such as the 1984 Olympic which propagandizes the cause of 1917 Bolshevik Revolutions. But it was under Catherine's reign that Russia enjoyed its greatest extent of power.

Tom Kong was the president of American National Bank of Okmulgee, Oklahoma — Charter #12048. There was a meeting of the board of directors on May 17, 1929. The directors decided that the American National would be absorbed by the Central National Bank — Charter #11061.

Mr. Kong was so upset over this that he shot himself in front of his house as soon as he got home! — Submitted by Frank Clark, Carrollton, Texas.

In July, Canadians began using a new dollar coin showing a loon on the reverse and the usual portrait of the queen on the obverse. The coin already has picked up some nicknames, the most common one being "the looney."

America's first "money" lady was Lucy Petway Holcombe Pickens. She was the first woman with her picture on American currency. Lucy was a member of a prominent South Carolina family, and her likeness was reproduced on the Confederacy's $100 bill in 1862.

Mini Money — The Hong Kong one cent and the Fiji one penny (about $2\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches) are the smallest-sized notes and lowest denominations in the history of paper money. They were issued early in World War II to alleviate the shortage of metal.

When a Hunt County, Texas community was denied Money, it took Cash instead! And it's still called Cash today.

Citizens tried to name their town for J. A. Money, the first postmaster, but Washington rejected that name in favor of Cash. Cash is located south of Greenville.

Texas also has Old Dime Box and Dime Box situated a few miles apart and east of Austin.

Going, Going, Sold! To... THE RARITIES GROUP.

As experienced buyers of U.S. coinage know, The Rarities Group, Inc. is the 'One To Beat' on the auction circuit. But did you know that we actually buy far more coins privately or in dealer-to-dealer transactions than in auctions?

The fact of the matter is we pay consistent and fair prices for all your coins, i.e., we won't just cherry pick.

Currently, we are in need of quality U.S. rare coins whether they are 'raw' (uncertified) or certified (PCGS or ANACS). For certified coins we pay competitive sight unseen prices and will pay a premium for select quality.

So, if you're a dealer, collector or an attorney or banker handling an estate, do us both a favor - contact our office and ask to speak with Martin Paul or Stu Levine.

In the last column, I briefly discussed what makes successful clubs successful. Leadership, communications and funding were the key elements. But growth is also a factor. While some clubs can get along with only a few stable members, most clubs need membership growth to sustain club progress and to avoid stagnation. So, how can clubs increase membership?

Let's look first at the potential. It's pretty much a known fact that the vast majority of coin collectors are not affiliated with any organized coin club or society. Those experienced collectors who want to find clubs to join have a good idea where and how to find them. Why many of them don't may be associated with their desire for anonymity for security sake, or previous experience with do-nothing clubs. We'll discuss this situation later. Right now, I'd like to focus on the collector who's never been a member, beginner, and the youngsters. Many in these groups don't know how to find a club and may not even know that clubs exist. There's no easy way to identify and lure prospective members but some of the following suggestions might help.

One alternative is to place a small ad in your local newspaper announcing your meeting and its agenda, and that new collectors and guests are welcome. In addition, many newspapers will be happy to run your meeting information in their "What's Happening" column at no cost to the club. A classified ad, too, is inexpensive and placed in a category such as "Coins and Jewelry," may be alternative to a larger, more costly ad. While ads in Coin World, Numismatic News, and other coin hobby publications are expensive, if you send them your club newsletter, you'll find they publish your club activities as well as your meeting time, date and place within their club columns.

One relatively inexpensive way to attract new members is to enlist the help of your local coin dealers. If they are members of your club, so much the better. In their conversations with customers, they can pass on information about your club and, if you leave the dealers flyers or monthly newsletters, they can pass them on to non-member customers. Another place to leave the flyers is at your local supermarkets. Most of them have bulletin boards where you can place notices for meetings.

One nice task I personally handle for the Gateway Coin Club is to write a personal invitation attached to the latest club newsletter to any new ANA member who has a San Antonio-listed address published in The Numismatist. It's pretty simple and has gained Gateway two members this year.

Sponsoring a coin collecting merit badge program and conducting educational programs relating coins to history are two ways of generating interest in youngsters. It's not that difficult providing this type of community service. I have personally been involved in providing a program at the local museum and one at a local library.

There's one other target group that is usually lucrative when searching for new members — the transients. I don't mean indigents; I'm talking about local military bases and colleges. Many of the collectors at these facilities are happy to know they are welcome into your clubs and, usually, they are among the hardest workers when it comes to projects and programs. San Antonio, in particular, has a heavy population from these areas and our clubs have gained members from both groups. A flyer or bulletin board notice at military or college recreation centers and clubs, and at the USO may attract the collectors in this target group.

Once you've gotten some new members, you need to keep them. In my next column, I'll talk about maintaining interest to stimulate not only the new members, but the experienced ones as well.

The Mickley-Hawn specimen of the United States 1804 silver dollar and the Reed Hawn 1913 Liberty Head nickel were on display in Atlanta, Georgia in August at the annual convention of the American Numismatic Association.

Only 15 examples of the 1804 dollar and five of the 1913 nickel are known to exist, according to Reed Hawn, Inc. of Austin.

The 1913 nickel was purchased at auction in January 1983 for $385,000 and the 1804 dollar in January 1974 for $150,000, which at the time was a world's record price. Both coins, now valued at near $2 million, are in proof condition, and had not been exhibited together before by Hawn. According to the owner, collectors consider these coins to be the two to own, and he says that more has been written about them than any other coins as they are the most famous in coin history.

Hawn is celebrating 25 years in numismatics. His other interests are breeding and selling Arabian horses, venture capital, investments, real estate and others.

mail \mā(ə)\l\ order \ord-ər\ phobia \fō-bē-ə

n. an exaggerated fear of buying through mail order advertising

If you've got it, you're not alone. Mailorderphobia — the fear of buying "sight unseen" through mail order ads — affects thousands of collectors who once used the mails with confidence.

It's an unfortunate fact of life that "fast buck artists" have infiltrated the hobby. But you won't find them in NUMISMATIC NEWS. Because we simply won't allow it.

All NUMISMATIC NEWS advertisers pass a strict screening policy before they utilize our pages. To further protect the interests of our valued subscribers, we conduct an ongoing, intensive, "blind testing" program, insuring that advertisers deliver what's promised.

By spending thousands of dollars annually this way, we continually affirm the integrity of our advertisers, and recognize their sound business practices with our seal of approval — the Krause Publications' Customer Service Award.

While the constant shadow of mailorderphobia may lurk over others in the hobby, the sun shines bright on NUMISMATIC NEWS subscribers. You can rely on us to provide an atmosphere that promotes a fair exchange — in every transaction you make.

Seated, Liberty Head (Barber), Standing Liberty and Washington Head.

Half dollars included the Flowing Hair, Draped Bust (small and large eagle), Turban Head Capped Bust, Liberty Seated, Barber, Walking Liberty, Franklin and Kennedy. Types for the silver dollar series, first authorized by Congress on April 2, 1792, consisted of the Flowing Hair, Draped Bust, Liberty Seated, Morgan and Peace.

The Trade type was issued to compete with other silver coins in the Orient. It is the only U.S. coin to have been demonetized. Many of the coins are noted for the "chop" marks put on them by the Chinese to ensure the coin's value.

Welcome as new members are David Swadley and Michael Walc. Frank Clark is club president. —

Millard P. Brown is the new president of International Coin Club of El Paso, assisted by Willie Tarraras, vice president; Marlin Haines, secretary; Norman E. White, Sgt. at Arms; and Evelyn Galliart and Mike Estrada, board of directors. David Hollander is the new treasurer.

A proposal was made to hold a fall 1988 show on a smaller scale because of the larger shows becoming too costly. The club will explore the possibility of having several smaller shows during the year.

Haines conducted the auction and door prizes went to Al Aranda and Brown. Evelyn Galliart served refreshments. — John & Florence Berger, P.R. Committee.

DISTRICT XI —

Charles Simmins and John Bitting joined as new members of Golden Spread Coin Club, Inc. of Amarillo at the last meeting. Plans for the annual picnic and the October 3-4 coin show were discussed.

Announcement was made that Nela Runkle, formerly of Amarillo, was exhibit chairperson for the 1988 TNA convention to be held in Houston and was seeking exhibits for the spring event. — Newsletter.

Jerry Williams provided background on the T. G. Brown Award given annually to some deserving member of Greater Port Arthur Coin Club.

Thomas Graham Brown was a charter member of the club who served in many capacities throughout the years — general and bourse chairman for shows, member of TNA and ANA, respected coin dealer, past president of all area clubs and started "Did You Know?" questions at the meetings.

The award is based on the following: Attendance, serving as chairman or on a committee, donations, holding office, auctioneer, programs, coin show worker, recruiting new members and "welcome to visitors."

Donnie White gave a program on the history of English coins through the ages from Roman to the present. He covered each era of coinage from the 7th century, the Dane era, Anglo-Saxon, medieval and milled coins starting in the mid-1600's. — Newsletter.

"Coin Preservation" was discussed by Bill Stein at the Beaumont Coin Club meeting. He told the group that long ago, coin collecting was the hobby of kings, and coins were kept in coin cabinets, virtually unprotected. Since then, numismatics has become popular for all classes of people and the importance of proper storage has become evident.

Bill described several types of coin storage methods and the pros and cons of each type. He said that any coin holder containing polyvinyl chloride (PVC) can damage coins over extended time periods. The popular 2 x 2's are alright for circulated coins, but are not airtight and have cardboard dust. One airtight container is called "Coin-tain." They are fairly expensive, but are a good investment for better coins. One last point was that the collector should consider the value of the coin when selecting a type of container. — Kaye Brown, Sec.

— Is Grandad still out on the farm? The worldwide Food & Agriculture Organization has encouraged the minting by many countries of coins with an agricultural theme — Bhutan a semi-independent kingdom in the Western Himalayas minted a 20-Chetrum coin in 1974 which pictures a lady working in the field. Nationalist China, in 1969, issued a 1 Yuan coin picturing a farmer with his tractor. Cyprus minted a 500 Mil coin in 1970 which shows a worker holding aloft a basket of the fruits of that island country.

Whatever you are interested in, generally there is a collection of coins to blend in with the subject. Are you all bent out of shape over heraldry? There are lions rampant and couchant on many coins. Perhaps Egyptology is your bag. Collect the Sphinx on coins of Egypt or the Egyptian warrior in his chariot on the gold 1/2 pound of Egypt minted in 1958. Oh, you're an equestrian? Consider Queen Elizabeth mounted on her steed on the coronation crown of 1953, or the Argentine gaucho astride his horse on the 10 Pesos of 1962. Why not put a camel in your stable? The French, Afars and Issas, 50-Franc coin of 1970 pictures two of the beasties. One of the most famous mothers, Maria Theresa, is shown on the Austrian 25-Schilling of 1967. You say you don't know of Maria Theresa? Shame — she was the mother of Marie Antoinette of French guillotine fame.

This list just skims the cream of the varied and intriguing ways to collect. One does not have to go for just the "pennies, nickels and dimes."

Use some imagination and see what fun coin collecting can be!

LIBERTY CAP STORY

What is the origin of the Liberty Cap?

The symbolism has its roots back in the history of ancient Rome. When a slave was freed, a ritual ceremony was followed. First, the slave's head was shaved. Then he was presented with a cap to cover the shaved head. This cap was his badge of freedom. In time the cap became a symbol of freedom for a group of people as well as a slave, and appeared on coins of the Roman Republic. Undoubtedly the designers of U.S. coins believed that this symbol was also appropriate for our coins.

1787-1987 — 200th Anniversary of The Constitution of the United States of America

The Obverse of this medallion is designed to suggest various themes. George Washington who presided at the Constitutional Convention and who became our first President under the new Constitution is pictured as well as Ronald Reagan our 40th President. Their profiles look upon each other signifying the common bond they share in upholding the Constitution as leaders of our country. The American Flag containing 13 stars over Washington's head contrast with the 50 star Flag over Reagan's head symbolizing the growth of our country over 200 years while governed under the authority of the Constitution.

The Reverse of this medallion sets forth the Preamble of the Constitution which recites the purposes for which the Constitution was enacted. Flanking the Preamble is the American Eagle symbolizing the spirit of America.

This Proof-Like medallion is certified to be struck in 2 troy ounces of Pure .999 Fine Silver

SAN DIEGO AUCTION INCLUDES TREASURE COINS

Hundreds of treasure coins and artifacts salvaged from the famed Spanish galleon Atocha off the coast of Florida in 1985 are included in the first major auction of its kind to be held Sept. 18-19 in San Diego.

"This will be the first major offering to collectors of previously unknown specimens of Spanish New World coinage," said Dana Linett, president of Early American Numismatics and sponsor of the San Diego Show and Auction.

"All of the Atocha coins come mostly from the Lima, Mexico and Potosi Mints and are dated between 1572 and 1621, during the reigns of Kings Philip II, III, and IV," Linett said.

The treasure-laden galleon Nuestra Senora de Atocha sank during a hurricane in 1622 about 40 miles off the coast of Florida. For more than 360 years the gold and silver coins and ingots remained there, until 1985, when Melvin Fisher and his crew from Treasure Salvors Inc. located the Atocha's remains.

Fisher's 16-year search for the ship cost him and his investors almost $10 million, and the lives of three members of his crew, including his son, Dirk, Dirk's wife, Angel, and a diver killed in a 1979 accident. Fisher's quest for the Atocha was recently documented in a network TV movie, and has been the subject of countless magazine and newspaper articles in recent years.

Among the rarities in the San Diego Auction to be held at the Holiday Inn Embarcadero is a 46-Troy-ounce gold bar carrying such markings as the shipment manifest number, fineness, tax-paid seal and the owner's stamp.

Catalogs for the Sept. 18-19 Auction are priced at $5 each and may be ordered from San Diego Show Inc., Box 3341, La Jolla, CA 92038, or by phoning (619) 273-3566. Prices realized will be furnished to buyers following the sale, Linett added.
